

BOLD

Mid Weight Graphic Designer: Job Advert

BOLD is a fully integrated creative design agency. We are the first and biggest social enterprise agency in Scotland offering a variety of services from large creative re-branding to small scale document design, smart UX design and web development. Bold caters predominantly to the needs of social enterprises and other third sector organisations.

We are seeking a driven and talented designer with a passion for social justice to join our creative team. The post offers fast-paced and varied design work for publications, digital, brand and campaign purposes. The successful candidate will possess a broad base of design skills along with a can-do attitude and the ability to confidently engage with clients and suppliers.

We are also happy to receive applications from junior designers with experience and an excellent body of work.
